Chicago, Ill., March 22—There was a general desire to unload whist, and prices closed at the inside figures of the day, showing a drop of 150 The market was very active, but the feding was decidedly weak. Offerings were large, owing to a lack of confidence, and the majority of speculators were on the bear side. A lib eral number of orders were received mainly, however, of the celling kind. The weather was all that could be oc-sired, and Liverpool and New York dispatches were favorable to bear. Labor troubles had a deprecaing influence. The opening was easy, with sellers at 82c, but they rapidly came down in their views until the market touched 80%. During this drop there was considerable excitement. generally accepted theory of the break was that several big firms were helping some Northwestern friends out of a bad box by unleading their long wheat. Almost all the big houses were flooded with orders to sell. Much of it was wheat, and stoporders predominated. The break was so sharp that not all of them could be placed within [@]c of the limit. Gradually the market recovered to 81 c. Still later on, by a withdrawal of all support, it again declined to 80 c, and went through the same parformance of recovering to a little over Sic, and for a third time touched bottom at 80 c. Trade was on an upushally large scale, but the whole tone that; March, 4 60d value; March April, 4 60d value; March April, 4 60d value; April-May, 4 60d buyers; May-June, 4 63d sellers; June-July, 5 02d sellers; July-August, 5 04d sellers; July-A ing the depressing influence brought to bear the market held up remarks bly well. The weakness in wheat made operators bearish, and the feeling was somewhat increased by good receipts, lower Eastern markets and an i crease of $50,000 bushelain New York stocks. Shorts, who had small profits, secured them and prevented much of a decline. May opened at 38fc, sold at 38fc, back to 38fc, and closed at 1 o'clock at that figure, the same price as on Saturday. Shippers bought sparingly, owing to the scarcity of vessel room. Flour quiet and un-changed.
